

- Agent systems

A visitor can change.

Last time, the museum visit was about dinosaurs. This time, the visitor has come for photography.

A proposed museum-guide interaction.

- Agent systems

Remember the situation.

Choosing dinosaurs while visiting with a child tells a different story from a permanent favorite.

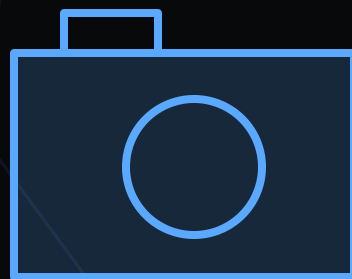

A visit together
A chosen subject

An observation carries its context.

- Agent systems

Make room for this visit.

The guide can offer a familiar direction and an alternative, then let the visitor choose.

Memory can start a conversation.

- Agent systems

A useful memory is more than a label.

Generative Agents explored retrieved observations and reflections in a 2023 simulation. This museum is an imagined application.

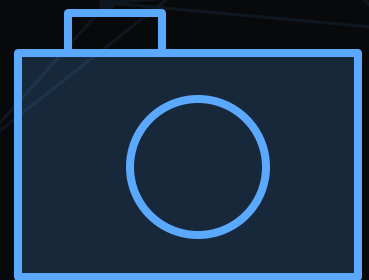

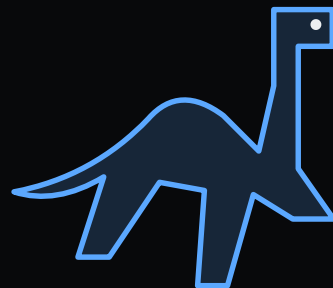

Observation
Context

- Agent systems

Welcome back. What interests you today?

Remembering someone well can make a new visit easier without deciding in advance who they are.

An invitation with room for change.